To Whom It May Concern,

This letter serves as my cover letter in applying for the position of "Digital Math Content Developer", as found on www.glassdoor.com.

After receiving my Masters Degree in Mathematics, I have worked mostly in the educational field as a University Professor and College Instructor. I have been working toward a slight career shift for the last few years, becoming more interested in the technical side of online learning. I became certified in Online Learning and Teaching from my former employer back when life seemed more normal. The COVID-19 situation radically changed the working environment, and all of the reasons that I enjoyed being a full-time College Mathematics Instructor completely vanished. I took that as a sign that I needed to start thinking about a career change. I decided to sign up for the Data Science Professional Certification program through HarvardX, just to expand my credentials and to demonstrate my technical abilities as a programmer. I was about 2/3 of the way thorough the program when a drastic change in campus policy inspired me to resign from teaching and focus on my coursework full time. I completed the certification in November of 2021, and am currently looking for work while I build my dream off-grid home in Northern New Mexico. There is no time like the present to do what you have always wanted.

I look forward to arranging an interview if possible. I live in Northern New Mexico, so a remote interview of some kind would be preferred. Thank you for taking the time to look over my credentials and consider my candidacy.

Sincerely yours,

Kaylee Robert Tejada
